From some unknown cause, presumably from incendiary origin, a summer cottage at East Quonocontaug beach, owned by William A. Wilcox of Westerly, was completely burned with its contents Theaday evening, entailing a loss of about $2,000, partially covered by insurance. This is one of the cottages moved a few years ago by reason of the severe storm that did so much damage to shore property. Since then the house has been improved by the addition of a veranda. The house was furnished and ready for occupancy and had been rented for the coming season. Nothing remains but the chimney, even the boardwalk being completely burned.

When first discovered by Archie Burdick, the whole structure was assen, and the residents of that section could do nothing to check the fire and it burned itself completely out. The nearest cottage was 100 feet distant, but the wind fanned and the sparks and embers were carried in a direction where no damage resulted.

So far as known, there had been no fire in the house since last summer, and all the windows and doors were boarded over. No one was seen near the house, nor observed going towards some to believe that the fire was caused by mice and matches, or perhaps spontaneous combustion. Mr. Wilcox owns other cottages at Quonocontaug, the one burned being known as the What Cheer.

Charles Denison Chapman of Westerly died Wednesday afternoon at his home in High street, after four days' illness with pneumonia. Mr. Chapman was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Chapman and was born in the old homestead near Chapman's pond, about midway between Westerly and Bradford in the town of Westerly. In early life he was associated with his father and a brother Leonard, deceased, in the granite industry and managed the Chapman quarry. The family subsequently removed to High street in the village of Westerly. After retiring from the granite business, Mr. Chapman located in Providence, where for a time he conducted the Marbie Palace, the most elaborate saloon in the city, the headelaborate saloon in the city, the head-quarters of sporting men and a show place of the city, the floor being stud-ded with silver dollars.

After retiring from business in Providence, Mr. Chapman returned to Westerly and was not in active business for many years, attending to his personal affairs. About three years ago he opened the saloon in Canal street known as the C. Den. Mr. Chapman is the last of his direct family and is survived by his widow. He was 63 years of age and was in his usual good health up to last Saturday. He was of giant stature, of genial disposition, a good hearted and charitably disposed man. He was a member of the Provman. He was a member of the Providence lodge of Elks and of the Westerly lodge of Moose.

Four prize winning White Wyandotte hens were stolen from the yard of William R. Wells, in Ashaway, some time after sunset Sunday night. When the fowl were missed Monday morning. Mr. Wells offered a reward of $10 for the recovery of one particular hen, and no questhions asked. He gave a good description of the fowl in the advertisement. Wednesday afternoon, Policeman Michael Curtin while patroling in Pierce street, saw four fowls that had day afternoon. Policeman Michael Curtin while patroling in Pierce street, saw four fowls that had evidently enjoyed good care and, as they answered the description of the stolen fowl he made inquiry of the party in possession of the fowls and learned that they were purchased from Silas Randall, colored, a resident of Pond street. Policeman Curtin made a report to Chief Brown who, with Curtin, went to Pierce street is an automobile and took possession of the four Wyandottes and started back for the station. On the way the officers saw Randall in Pearl street, and took him into custody, landing the man and the hens in the police station.

As the theft occurred in the town of Hopkinton, but within the jurisdiction of the Third district court, Chief Brown called John R. Wilcox, sheriff

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR WESTERLY OWNER LOSES COTTAGE

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with supplur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and failing hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractive, ness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so svenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Since the abandonment of Stoningon as a terminal for a Sound line of passenger and freight steamboats, the place is not as prominent on the marine map, but the harbor is still there and it is a rare day, indeed, when it is not a refuge for vessels in the coastwise trade. In the prevalence of strong head winds and unusual lumpy sea, scores of vessels seek shelter in Stonington harbor, while on a calm day like Wednesday there was a three-masted and four two-masted coasting schooners at another in the harbor. The time was when the coasting trade was of almost equal value to the boreugh as the line of steamers. That was when the granite industry of Westerly was at its height and much of the finished product, the raw material and pavers, were brought to the borough and forwarded to destination by water routes. There is a strong hope in the borough that this serious loss of maritime business will be replaced by healthy manufacturing interests, it being urged that there is no better location anywhere, than the property vacated by the steamboat and railroad lines. The water and railroad occommodations are equal to the best on the entire eastern coast. there and it is a rare day, indeed, hundreds of testimonials like this:

Mrs. James F. Summitt, 1965 E. Eighth St., Muscatine, Iov 2. writes: Perusa has cured me. For years I was practically an invalid. I was induced to give Perusa a trial, and found very quickly that it was helping me. I am now well and happy. We have a baby boy, which we believe is the direct consequence of my improved health. If Perusa had not cured me we should never have had him. I thank God for Perusa. I hope my testimonial will be of benefit to other women who are childless simply because they are in a wretched physical condition. I will answer any letter from a woman anxious to know more about my case. I recommended Perusa to a friend whose daughter had a very severe case of Bronchitis. The doctors did not seem to do her any good. She used Perusa and is now well and strong. My husband's health is so much improved by Perusa that we would not be without it in the house."
